WORK IN PROGRESS

Adversity and Resilience: The Effects of Hurricane Katrina on Vulnerable Populations (with Jean Rhodes, Christine Paxson, Cecilia Rouse, Elizabeth Fussell and Thomas Brock). A longitudinal study of 1,019 low-income parents from New Orleans who were interviewed about their health, socioeconomic status and political attitudes before and after Hurricane Katrina. We explore factors that promote resilience and heighten vulnerability within this group, through surveys of the whole group and in-depth qualitative interviews with a small subset. Funded by the National Institute of Child Health and Development (NICHD), National Science Foundation and the MacArthur Foundation.

Coming of Age in America. Co-editor (with Patrick Carr, Jennifer Holdaway and Maria Kefalas) of a volume analyzing the subjective experience of the transition to adulthood in New York, San Diego, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota. Funded by the MacArthur Foundation.

Immigrant Education in Britain and the United States. A comparative study with Anthony Heath of immigrant education in the U.S. and England. Part of a larger project on immigrants in schools in Europe and the United States. Funded by the National Science Foundation.

The Second Generation in Europe and North America. Conference in October 2004. Co-editor (with Richard Alba) of an edited book in preparation. Funded by the Mellon Foundation

The Immigrant Second Generation in Metropolitan New York (with John Mollenkopf, Philip Kasinitz and Jennifer Holdaway). A large sample survey, in-depth life histories and ethnographic study of young adult offspring of immigrants in Metropolitan New York. Groups studied include Chinese, Koreans, Dominicans, Colombians, Ecuadorians, Peruvians, West Indians, and Native-born non-Hispanic whites, Native-born non-Hispanic blacks, and Puerto Ricans. The study examines the economic, political, and social incorporation of the second generation and compares their labor market experiences with native New Yorkers of native parentage. Funded by the Russell Sage Foundation, the Mellon Foundation, Ford Foundation, NICHD, the Rockefeller Foundation, and the UJA-Federation of Greater New York. Follow up re-interviews on the transition to adulthood funded by the MacArthur Foundation.
