

Harvard University. The Department of Sociology seeks to fill a full-time tenure-track position as Assistant or untenured Associate Professor of Sociology, beginning fall, 2009. Candidates may also be considered for a joint position with the Committee on Degrees in Social Studies, an interdisciplinary undergraduate honors concentration at Harvard College. We seek candidates with exceptional promise as scholars and teachers to offer courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The substantive areas of research and teaching are open. A strong doctoral record is required. Applicants should send a dossier including: (1) a vita listing published and unpublished papers, (2) a letter describing current and projected research activities as well as teaching experience and interests, and (3) two or three pieces of written work including at least one dissertation chapter. Please also arrange for at least three references to send letters under separate cover. All materials should be addressed to: Tenure-Track Search Committee, Department of Sociology, 670 William James Hall, Department of Sociology, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA 02138. Application materials and letters must be received by October 1, 2008. Harvard is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and welcomes applications from women and members of minority groups.

June 25, 2008